

7TH ANNUAL
ASIAN COMEDY NIGHT
SATURDAY, MARCH 26, 2011

The Comedy Studio and Hong Kong Restaurant, Harvard Square
1238 Massachusetts Ave, Cambridge, MA

HEADLINER: SHENG WANG

Sheng Wang is a Taiwanese Texan who developed and honed his comedy in the thriving standup community of the San Francisco Bay Area. He performs jokes based on personal experiences with intense honesty and ill logic. His refreshingly affable stage presence combined with a healthy penchant for absurdity and self-deprecation. Sheng has appeared on Comedy Central, AZN Network, American Eagles and Just for Laughs Comedy Festival in Montreal.

JULIE KITAYAMA

Julie Kitayama is a stand up comedian from Arlington MA. Her comedy addresses the challenges of being multi-cultural, a Buddhist convert and making her way through life one date at a time. Julie is also an avid baker and cook. She was a finalist in the 2007 Not Your Average Joe's Taste of Fame Recipe contest with her Sweet & Spicy Pork Chops which sums up her person style.

ALINGON MITRA

Alingon Mitra began stand up in his hometown of Worcester, Massachusetts, where he fast became a fan favorite. Now in Boston, he continues to be recognized by the major clubs as an outstanding young talent. In college, Alingon was a writer for the storied comedy magazine, The Harvard Lampoon."

ANDY DAWSON

Andy Dawson is an Asian-American stand-up comedian who was born in Seoul, South Korea and then adopted and raised by a White Protestant family in the wilds of Pennsylvania.

These circumstances prove to be fertile ground for his comic invention. Andy's other themes include marriage, divorce, single parenting at an early age, and ethnic stereotyping.

Andy performs every week at Dick Doherty's Comedy Vault at Remington's in Boston. He is also a regular at the Comedy Studio in Cambridge and Catch A Rising Star in Providence. By day a Design Manager at Crimson Life Sciences, Andy has also produced a one-man show White on Rice, and his stand-up routine recently went over big at the Club Deluxe in San Francisco.
